

National Commission for Protection of Child Rights

Children beggars of Mathura rescued and admitted in school through NCPCR's intervention

A complaint was received at NCPCR in the month of the June, 2017 regarding children found begging in Mathura. These children were also being used as child labour. NCPCR took up the matter with the State Government. Following NCPCR's intervention 35 street children were rescued and were admitted in the School.

Thus, intervention of the NCPCR resulted in rescue of children from begging/child labour and providing them with schooling facilities.