VISIT REPORT

OVERVIEW

The Government of India recently addressed the longstanding issue of persecuted minority refugees living in India by providing a fast-track path to Indian citizenship for minority groups from Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Pakistan before December 2014. The Government of India has specifically identified six minority groups - Hindus, Jains, Sikhs, Buddhists, Christians and Parsis. It is significant to highlight that children also accompanied their parents during this migration and they equally faced this persecution at each stage - before migration, during migration and post migration. NCPCR being the foremost governing body for the protection of child rights in India has taken the cognizance for protecting and ensuring the rights of these children.

Sh. Priyank Kanoongo, Chairperson, National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) made a follow up visit to resettlement colony of Pakistani Hindu refugees; New Delhi to examine and address the multifarious issues and challenges affecting these children living in refugee camps. During the visit Chairperson interacted with the local people who expressed deep concern about safety and development of children. The Commission requested the Government officials from the concerned departments- Sub- Divisional
Magistrate (SDM), Child Welfare Committee, ICDS & ICPS Nodal Officers, Juvenile Justice Board, Special Juvenile Police Unit (SJPU), and Deputy Director of Education (DDE), Chief Medical Officer (CMO), Tehsildar and Officer from Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) to be present during the visit and ensure speedy redressal of issues encountered by the children.

MAJOR ISSUES HIGHLIGHTED DURING THE VISIT

- The Colony is un-electrified. However the residents are dependent on solar power installed by an NGO. The children and elderly people find it extremely difficult to cope with the hot and sultry weather of Delhi. Even TATA Power DDL has shared the list of Un-electrified areas in Delhi in its website which puts Aruna Nagar area under un-electrified zone.\(^1\)

- Problem of poor sanitation in the camp- portable toilets installed by the Government were blocked, lack of running water and were in deplorable condition. Solid waste is thrown in empty plots of land within the camp. The Colony do not have proper waste disposal management system and people using Yamuna River for bathing and washing of clothes posing health risks among children. There are no internal pavements, making it muddy and difficult to walk whenever it rains.
