2.3 The background and details of A Study on Effectiveness of SMCs in terms of fulfilling their duties including preparation and implementation of School Development Plan under Section 21 and 22 of the Right to Free and Compulsory Education, 2009

Amongst the various child laws the Government of India has enacted so far, the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, is a crucial legislation for ensuring elementary education and strengthening the social fabric of democracy by providing equal opportunities to all children upto the age of 14 years. In line with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG, 2015) for Education, the recently released National Education Policy 2020 also articulates equitable and inclusive education for all as the overarching vision for the education system. The 1989 UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (UN, 1989) states that children have the right to be heard and express their opinion. The school and the community, independently, become the site for a child's expression and thought processes. Therefore, parents need to be considered as an equal partner in holistic development of the child. The rights of Children were further reinforced by the implementation of the Right to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 which made it mandatory for all children of 6-14 years of age to access free and compulsory education. With the implementation of this Act, School Management Committee (SMC) became constitutionally mandated structure in all elementary schools having accountability to ensure the mandate of free and compulsory education.

The Right to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 clearly specifies the structure, roles and responsibilities of School Management Committee (SMC). In India, there are around 15 Lakhs elementary schools and 5 Lakhs secondary schools in the government and government aided sector. Each state government has modified the constitution of SMCs to respect the broad framework of the RTE 2009 Act. However, there are variations in the number of SMC members, the election procedures and their actual functioning and performance in the schools across different States/UTs. Further, it is important to understand and examine the process of constitution of SMCs, extent of participation in execution of their roles and responsibilities and various other duties as per Section 21 and Section 22 of the Right to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 across different States/UTs. Despite of several micro level studies have been conducted across the states, but the functioning of all kinds of School Management Committees across the country have not been documented and disseminated.

Therefore, to check compliance of Section 21 and Section 22 of RTE, 2009 in true spirit, there is a need to understand and examine the ground reality of effective functioning and performance of School Management Committees in Schools across different States/UTs and identify the key problems/concerns of states/UTs and recommend measures to enhance the effective implementation of the Act.
